Family Mediation

Fast, cost effective resolutions designed to help people resolve family dispute or conflict

Family separations can involve considerable pain and financial hardship. Family mediation can help you and your partner seek solutions without the stress or cost of having to go to court.

A Family mediation specialist is a qualified, independent third party who will help you and your partner talk through matters arising from divorce, separation or family breakdown, including:

- Whether you wish to separate?
- The divorce process
- If you have already separated, help you find solutions in relation to finances, property and children

Mediation is designed to give all parties space to explore all options available to them, protecting parenting relationships and helping you and your family move forward constructively, positively and cost effectively.

Naomi specialises in children matters and guiding families through the various processes, whether it be divorce, dissolution of a civil partnership or separation, supporting them to move forwards positively.

At which point should we contact a family mediator?

What happens when mediation has been completed?

What do I need to bring with me to a mediation session?

How do costs compare to going to court?

Why should we try mediation?

What is the mediation set up and does it involve my partner?

I am worried about costs for mediation?

Will I be safe during mediation?

As family mediation specialists, we understand the emotional pain, financial pressures and stress experienced during separation and family conflict. We offer a free, confidential initial conversation to answer any concerns or questions you may have, and to explore the options available for you, your partner and your family.

The family mediation process helps you and your partner explore the varying ways of moving forward in a safe environment, enabling you to communicate effectively and discover solutions that suit your individual circumstances.

We are specially trained to focus on the needs of all involved, especially children and can help you to find solutions collectively.
